

What Makes GMail Better Than Other Email Providers?

When Google was launched no one knew it would be the world's popular website. It has changed the world with its services. We all are using its services and it has changed the world. We will discuss one of them, which is Gmail. All of us are using Gmail and depend on it for our official work. Google changes with time and need while other email providers don't. That's the rule of run fast otherwise you will be ruined.

Google doesn't stick to a few features. Following are some characteristics that make Gmail more valuable and effective.

Privacy

Everyone is concerned about his/her privacy. To share their personal data and documents they need a safe server. Gmail's safe browsing system warns you before opening any dangerous message in an email. It warns you that this mail or link is suspicious. The interesting thing is that Google itself pays hackers to check the flaws. In Gmail the messages are encrypted.

Google drive

Another best option among its products is Google drive. This is the service provided by Google for file storage. Documents in Google Drive are safe and synchronised. Its drive search option helps in finding the file quickly. It also warns you from any suspicious file. Because Google doesn't like spasms. It provides a backup option to you for data backup.

Update of Gmail

Sometimes we stuck on email for replies. The unique feature of Gmail suggests you reply according to the message. At the bottom of the email Google suggests you some replies. Click on any reply whatever you want to send. It saves time also. Another option is snooze. You can snooze to delay the recipient of the email. It recommends you time, and you can pick the date and time of your choice.

Sensitive Documents And Emails Are Protected

There is an option of "confidential mode" at the bottom row. By Just clicking on the lock and clock icon, your documents and emails are protected. When it is turned on, it forbids your recipient from forwarding, copy posting and printing your mail. Another interesting thing is that if you set an expiry date for mail, the mail will disappear from the recipient's inbox after that time.

Storage

When it was launched it provided 1 gigabytes of storage which was higher than its competitors. But now Gmail provides 15GB data storage for its users. You can store PDFs, photos, videos, Gmail attachments and links. What if your space is full? You cannot backup your photos. You cannot upload files. But Google provides you a better option. You can purchase storage.

Conclusion

Above mentioned are some unique features of Gmail that distinguish it from other email providers. This is a brief list. But Gmail has now become the best email system in the world. Gmail with millions of users is the best email provider in the world. It's unique features make gmail stand out from other email service providers like yahoo mail, hotmail etc.
